

By faith Abraham, when called to go to a place he would later receive as his inheritance, obeyed and went, even though he did not know where he was going. By faith he made his home in the promised land like a stranger in a foreign country; he lived in tents, as did Isaac and Jacob, who were heirs with him of the same promise. For he was looking forward to the city with foundations, whose architect and builder is God.

“Laughter is the best medicine. When we laugh, especially those laughs that start in our toes and don’t stop until they reach the top of our head, our blood pressure goes down, our muscles relax, and our brains release endorphins that make us feel better.”

SERMON Spreading the Gospel of Religious Freedom | Biblical scholar Albert Barnes has noted, “There are few precepts of religion more important than those which enjoin upon Christians the duty of a proper treatment of those who are not connected with the church.” During our time together we’ll examine how this principle informs our commitment to religious freedom.

WELCOME SPEAKER MELISSA REID is an associate director of Public Affairs & Religious Liberty for the North American Division of Seventh-day Adventists. In that capacity she serves as the Executive Director of the North American Religious Liberty Association (NARLA), a member driven advocacy organization dedicated to the God-given principle of religious freedom. She is also the Associate Editor at Liberty Magazine, a Seventh-day Adventist publication that highlights developments in both domestic and international religious freedom policy, and monitors the progress of relevant legislation and judicial activity. Reid holds a B.A. in English from Andrew University, and a Masters in Public Policy Management from Georgetown University in Washington, D.C.
