The Family

To Our Dad

You carried us a babies, held our hands while we were children, and walked with us as adults. You gave us so many life lessons and taught us how to vied all things as on of God's many blessings. You were only here for a season. Our hearts are heavy but we cannot question God for a reason. We are grateful for the time we had you near and for each time you lent your ear. You have given us all the tools we need and in your absence we will continue to succeed. We remember and hold dear everything you worked so hard to instill. Dad, we loved you then, now, and always will.

Love,
Your Children
