WHEN SOMEONE YOU LOVE BECOMES A MEMORY, THE MEMORY BECOMES A TREASURE

Memories Of Our Mother

As a child I remember momma opening our home to homeless men. She would have my older siblings shower & dress them in fresh clothes, and she would throw their dirty clothes away. Momma would be sure to always feed them a hot meal, before sending them on their way. We were poor in the projects, but Momma's Heart ❤️ was richer than any mint and tailored to the highest quality of professional clothing collection that money can buy. I'm So Proud to have My Momma's DNA, Thank You Momma I Love You.

Frankie Baucom

My favorite memory of mom is sitting beside her and holding her hand at church. Watching her eyes light up when certain songs were played and hearing her sing. Mom would sing "I'm going up yonder" and she just laughed and looked at me. I know mom is resting in that place of peace. I Love You Mom, and I am going to miss you dearly.

Marietta Perkins

I remember when we lived in the projects, I would go to bed early on Fridays so that I can wake up very early on Saturday. Saturday mornings is when mama and auntie Marvin would go grocery shopping together. When they were done shopping, they would always go out to eat at Furr's. Mama would shop at different stores to get food because she wanted to get the best prices. I guess that's where I get my shopping habits from. I like to take my time like mom did, and that is probably why no one likes to go shopping with me. Like mother, like daughter. I'm going to miss her so much.

Peggy Carnegie

I remember when we moved from the projects to a better neighborhood, and I had to attend a new school. It was a culture shock to see that there were only 4 black kids in my class. I had a really hard time adjusting to the new school, and I cried for a least two weeks. I felt like I didn't fit in. I decided that I didn't want to go to school anymore, which caused momma to miss work so that she could get me back in school. Momma was upset that she had to miss a day of work, and told me, "Look they don't like me at work, but I must go to feed you and keep a roof over your head. Hold your head up high, and don't you feel inferior to nobody. Always remember that God loves your color." I began to cry, and momma hugged me tightly. Rest In Heaven Momma, I'm going to miss you.

Ethel Allen

Mom, even though you're not with me you're right here in my heart. Your life was a blessing to me and so many other people. I saw how much compassion you had for others. You showed me that compassion is free. You instilled in me how to approach difficult situations with a friendly presence. Mom, I thank you for teaching me that lesson, because it made me who I am today. I love you.

Your daughter Lynn

A Godly Woman
Pastor Peggy Jean Perkins-Barnes

On August 4, 1936, the world welcomed a bright & shining light named Peggy Jean Green, to parents Abner Green and Ethel L. Leonard Green in Anson, Texas. Raised in a nurturing Christian environment, Peggy grew to embody the very essence of a servant leader. Peggy was a very loving, kind, caring, and patient child. Being that she was the 2nd oldest of 10 children, she was like a surrogate mother to her siblings. Peggy would cook, clean, and take care of her siblings. From an early age, Peggy loved to read the Bible to her sisters. She taught them how to pray, and how to seek the Holy Ghost. Peggy loved to create stories to read to her siblings, as she had such a vivid imagination. When Peggy was a teenager, the family moved to Plainview Texas where she attended high school. Peggy excelled in academics, and she was also a member of the school's basketball team. Moving to Plainview also brought about change in Peggy's life. Her family was classified as hardship cases, and the children had to work in the cotton fields. Even with change, Peggy remained optimistic and continued to help care for her siblings. Peggy would help them with their homework and would always encourage them to be successful in life. Peggy was such a significant role model to her siblings, and they looked up to her. At the age of 17, Peggy found love and partnership with her late husband, Robert Perkins, with whom she joyfully raised nine children. Her courage led her to Denver, Colorado in 1970, where she later married Daniel Barnes, welcoming another child into her heart and home.

The heart of Pastor Perkins-Barnes beat strongest within the walls of Campbell Memorial Church of God in Christ, where she dedicated herself under the esteemed guidance of Bishop L.A. Jorden and later, Superintendent Lamar Kennedy. A devoted prayer warrior and dynamic youth leader, her legacy as a Missionary was adorned with selfless service and an unwavering commitment to her community. She held prominent positions, including serving as the Central District President of the Purity Class, a national C.O.G.I.C Youth Organization, under Missionary Louvenia Craft.

Her incredible journey included accolades from the Mayor of Denver and a divinely inspired transition into Evangelism, where she helped establish a TV ministry and supported the growth of smaller churches alongside leaders Crystal and Lee Cartier. In time, she embraced the role of State and Regional Women's Supervisor of the Rocky Mountain Region, appointed by Bishop C.T. Johnson, only to humbly resign to nurture her personal outreach ministry. Her dedication carried her to the Center of My Joy Church, partnering with Elder James Shaw to cultivate a vibrant ministry.

Pastor Perkins-Barnes spirit soared with creativity; she penned plays and lessons that uplifted God's Kingdom, knowing that the arts were powerful tools to inspire the hearts, minds, and souls of young people. With an unwavering passion for saving souls, she embodied the spirit of Matthew 9:37-38, recognizing that while the harvest is plentiful, the laborers are few. Her ministry extended far beyond the church walls, leading her to Friendship Baptist Church, where she continued her outreach efforts and offered her wisdom as a matriarch of faith.

Her legacy, an exquisite tapestry woven with love and devotion, will live on through her beloved children and grandchildren, a testament to her profound impact on all who knew her. Respected and adored by individuals from all social classes, Pastor Perkins-Barnes assuredly lived her life according to God's words. "Well done, my good and faithful servant."

She is reunited in eternal peace with her parents, Abner and Ethel Green; her late husband, Daniel Barnes; her dear sons, Robert and Albert Perkins; daughters, Juanita Mitchell and Diane Cooks; grandson, Albert Perkins Jr.; and siblings, Marvin J. Wells, Bobbi Nell Shellman, Shelly Shellman, Frank Green, Earl Green, Lemuel Green, Carter Ray Hines, Clevester Hines, and Camilla Turner.

Pastor Peggy Perkins-Barnes, is a remarkable beacon of faith and love, who was called home on October 28, 2024 she leaves behind her loving children, Mylentha Thomas, Alberta Perkins, Berket Perkins, Frankie Baucom, Ethel (Destry) Allen, and Peggy (Darren) Carnegie; her devoted siblings; 26 grandchildren, 57 great-grandchildren, and two great-great-grandchildren; and a multitude of nieces, nephews, cousins, friends, and loved ones.

Pastor Peggy Perkins-Barnes life was a radiant testament of faith, love, and indelible service—a shining star in the hearts of many.
