

Jackson Andrew Maas was born peacefully sleeping and gained his angel wings on July 28, 2024
at Sanford Hospital in Sioux Falls, South Dakota.
Some only dream of angels, but we held one in our arms.
We'll now hold you in our hearts each and every day
until we can hold you again.

Jackson is survived by his loving parents: Sarah Hill and Andrew Maas; his siblings: Eleanor and Grayson Maas; maternal grandparents: Mary and Roger Hill; paternal grandparents: Laurie and Scott Maas; aunt and uncle: Amanda and Nick Elms; aunt and uncle: Jenny and Caleb King; aunt and uncle: Amanda and Adam McMahan; and cousins: Kensington and Jonah King, and Alexander, Jason and Marcus McMahan; paternal great-grandparents: Joanne and Glenn Nelson, and Arlene Maas; and many others who loved Jackson very much.

Jackson was preceded in death by maternal great-grandparents: Mary and Steven Berlinger, Aeda and Raymond Hill; and paternal great-grandfather: Carl Maas.

An angel in the book of life
wrote down my baby's birth
then whispered as he closed the book
'too beautiful for earth'
