The Dash

*I read of a man who stood to speak
At the funeral of a friend.
He referred to the dates on her tombstone
From the beginning... to the end.*

*He noted that first came the dates of her birth
And spoke of the following date with tears,
But said what mattered most of all
Was the dash between those years?*

*For that dash represents all the time
That she spent alive on this earth...
And how only those who loved her
Know what that little line is worth.*

*For it matters not, how much we own;
The cars... the clothes... the cash...
What matters is how we live and love
And how we spend our dash.*

*So think about this long and hard...
Are there things you'd like to change?
For you never know how much time is left,
(You could be at "mid-dash range...")*

*If we could just slow down enough
To consider what's true and real,
And always try to understand
The way that others feel.*

*And be less quick to anger,
And show appreciation more.
And love the people in our lives
Like we've never loved before.*

*If we treat each other with respect,
And more often wear a smile...
Remembering that this special dash
Might only last a while.*

*So, when your eulogy's being read
With your life's actions to rehash...
Would you be proud of the things they say?
And how you spent your dash?*
