Obituary

DONNA KAYE MILLER was born in Vicksburg, MS on September 21, 1962 to the late Richard (Mick) and Louise (Lou) Miller.

Donna confessed Christ at an early age and was baptized under the leadership of Rev. James L. Miller. Donna loved to sing and later, under the leadership of Rev. Kemp Burley, was an active choir member singing with the KB Special at Greater Mount Zion Baptist Church. In more recent years, she was a member of Holly Grove Missionary Baptist Church.

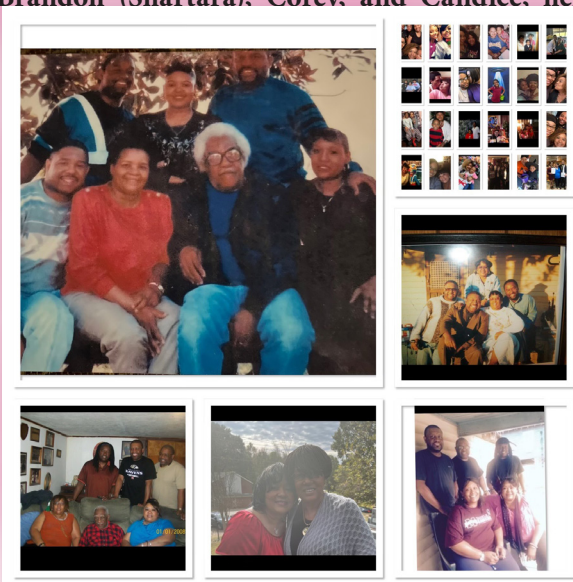

Donna graduated from Vicksburg High School (1980) and furthered her education at Alcorn State University. She was a member of "The Sounds of Dyn-O-Mite" marching band as a Purple Flasher. While attending Alcorn she met and married her "first love," Samuel Jackson, and to this union Tiffany was born.

In 1998, she married the love of her life, George Moore, in which he became a father figure to her son Brandon, and they welcomed twins Corey and Candice. She loved her husband and children and worked beyond measure for them all.

Donna worked for most of her life at Delta Point and Ameristar Casino where she was a customer favorite. She later worked at Vicksburg Catholic School and Dollar General where she served people with her beautiful smile.

Donna loved to entertain. She would sing and practice dance routines to many of her favorite singers and groups. She was the entertainment at family gatherings. At karaoke, she was known for her rendition of "Coal Miner's Daughter." She was a woman of many hidden talents. From drawing to writing poetry, she could do a little of it all. Her story telling of childhood memories was always impeccable. In her later years, she used her creativity to start designing jewelry and accent pieces. She found peace in sharing these with her loved ones.

She leaves to cherish her memories her loving husband, George Moore, her four children, Tiffany, Brandon (Shartara), Corey, and Candice; her three grandchildren, Xaivian, Trinity, and Treya (Buttercup); her siblings Richard Miller Jr., (Pensacola, FL), Renetta (Clarence) Thomas (Edwards, MS), Gerald Miller, and Michael Miller (both of Vicksburg, MS); one niece and one nephew, Chelsea and Richard Thomas (Pearland, TX) a special family friend, Mary Pendleton (Vicksburg, MS), and a host of cousins, other relatives, and friends.
