about

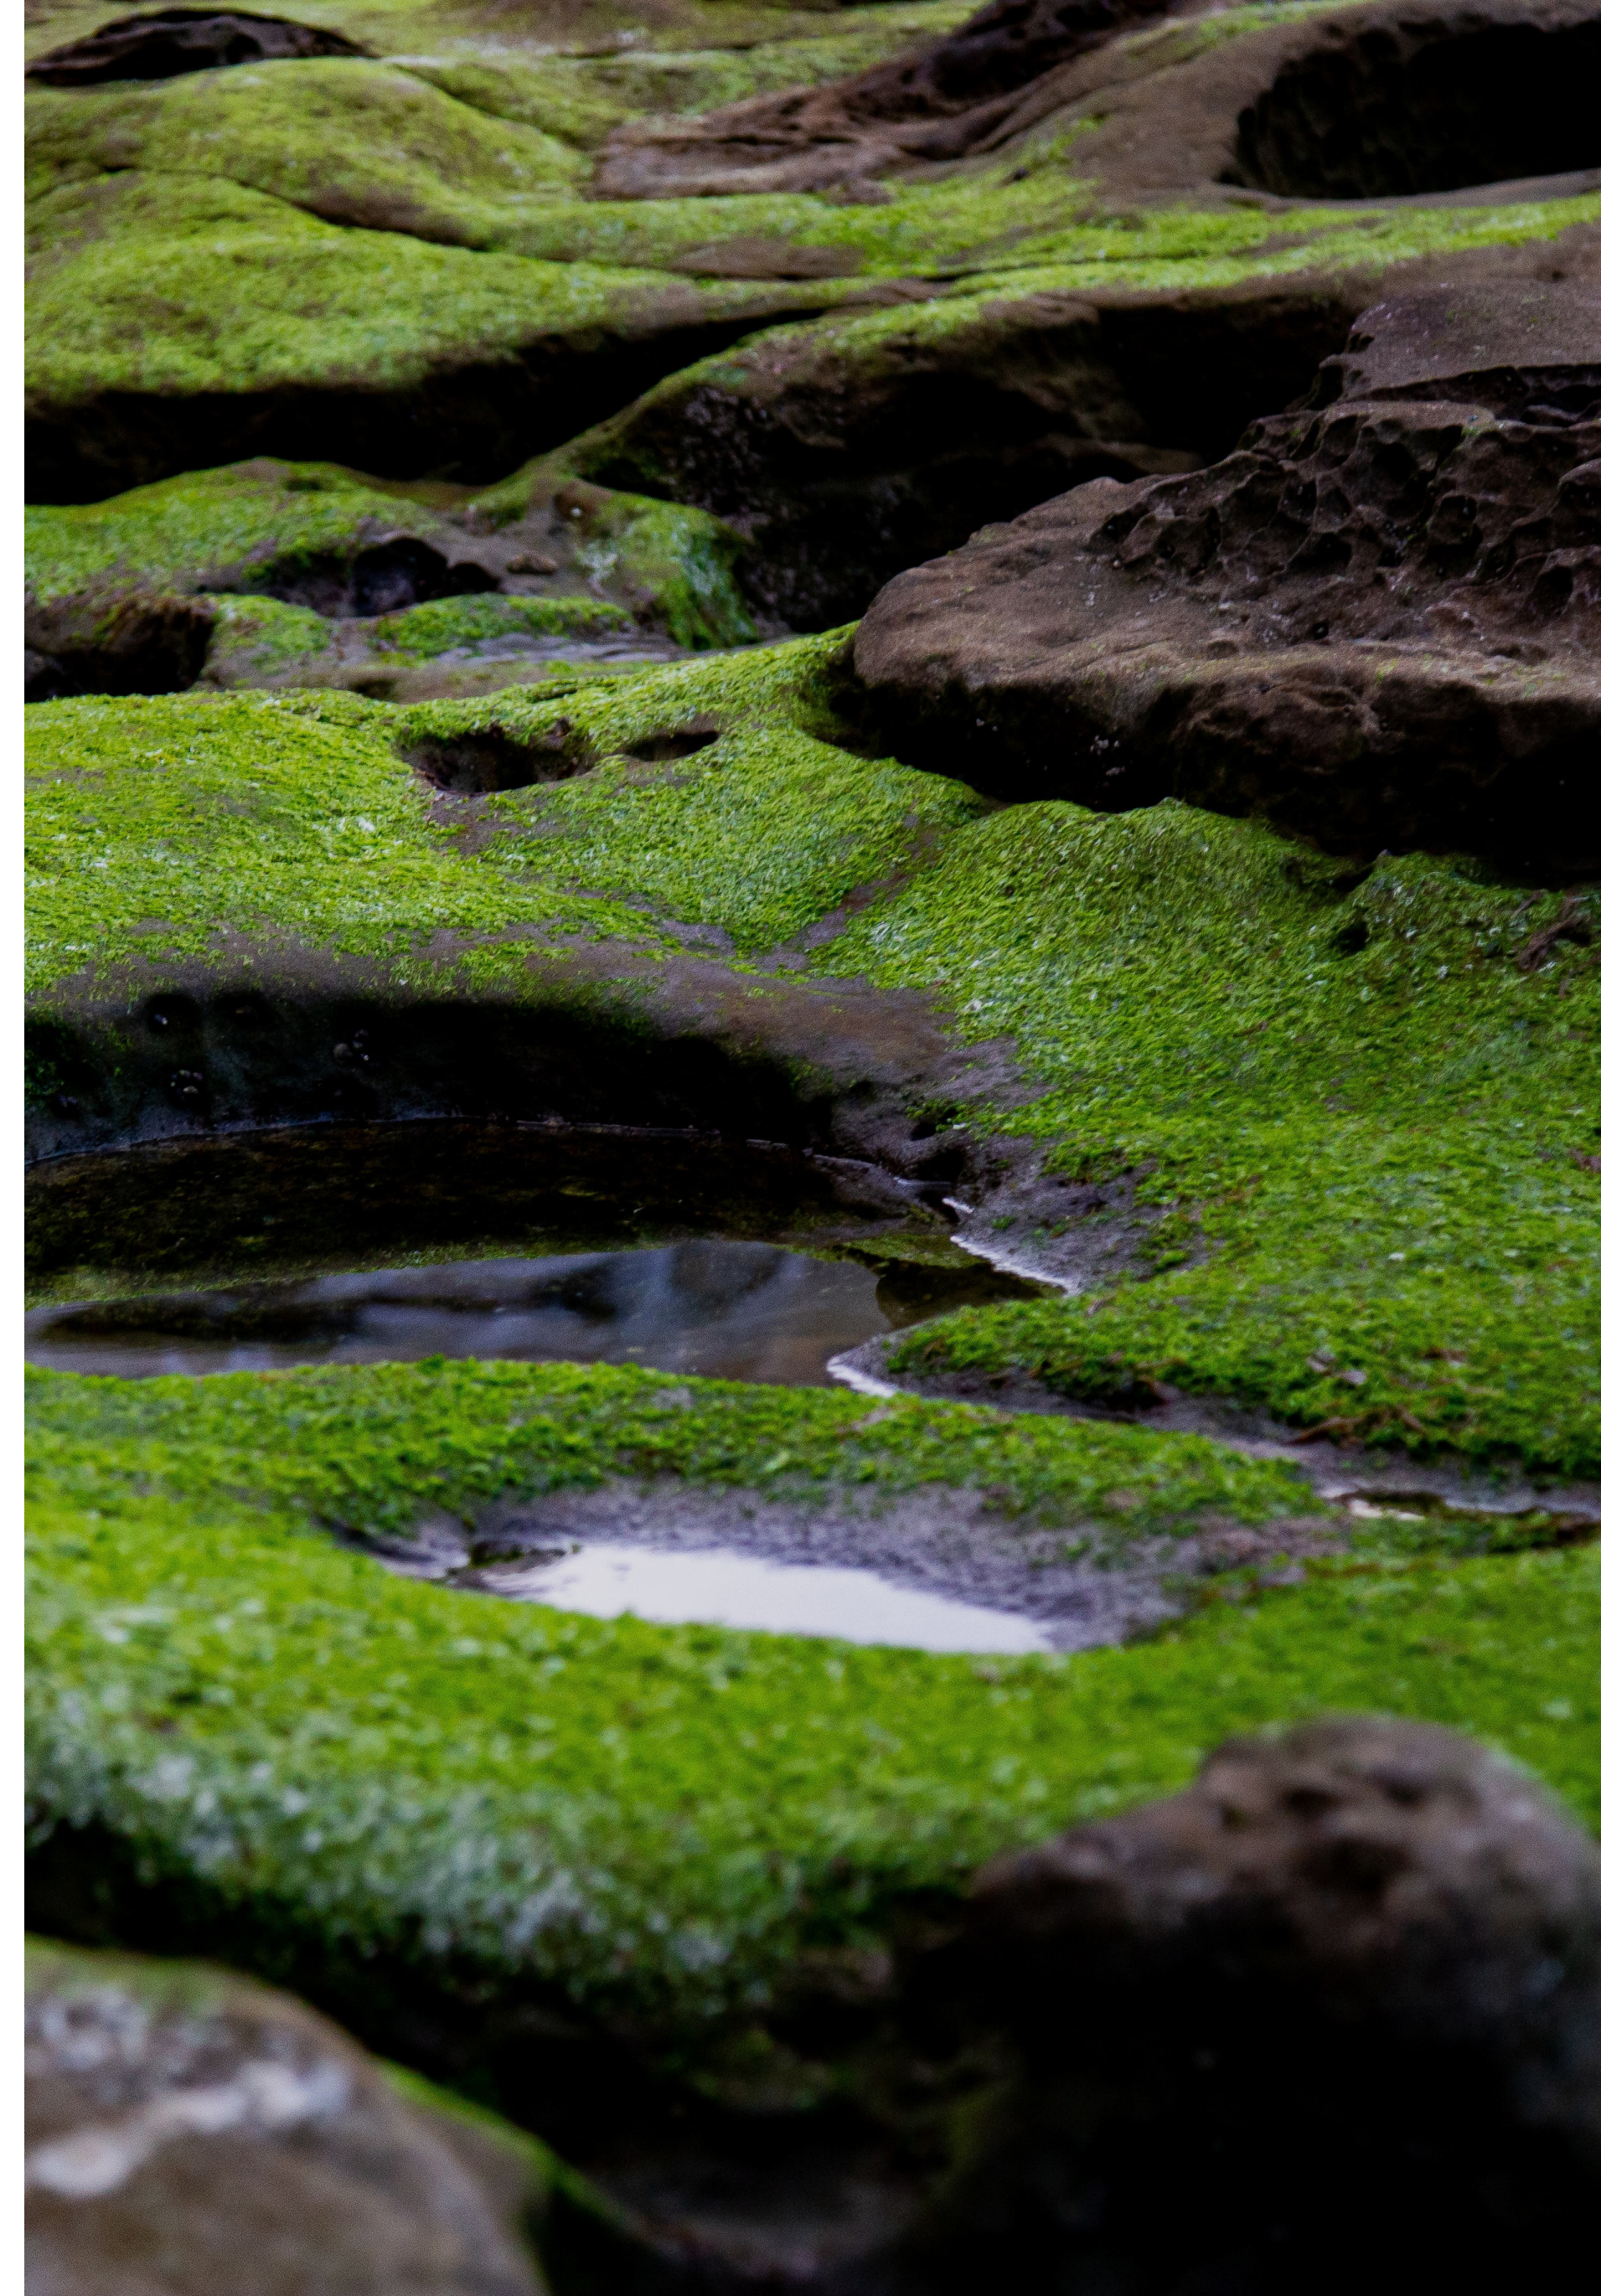

Caynga cases are designed to discreetly keep your goods safe and secure. Our name comes from kangaroo, the most protective pouches you'll find in the natural world.

Caynga is dedicated to improving user experience through the innovation of solution-based products. Our purpose is to give users the discretion, ease, and comfort they need to use their goods in peace. We know our customers work hard, they've earned a break.

Caynga is a privately held business operating out of Southern California.

It all started with a personal experience. As one of our founders made his way home from a shop, he realized he had no convenient place to store his goods. He worried his family would smell the product or stumble upon it if he left it in the wrong spot. While he eventually settled on leaving his product in a golf bag in the back of his car, he realized there must be a better way. Our founders commiserate over the fact that this is a common problem for users with families. So they began to work on the Caynga case, taking the highest quality materials and carefully testing them to devise the best answer.

Calm + Covered

Caynga is a company motivated to help others. We know that for those who choose our products, discretion and security are critical. Our customers are hardworking and responsible; we're here to help them have peace of mind.

We've got you covered.

THANK YOU!
