For Today: Homeward Bound

At the last stage of their life, salmon make a homeward journey after living up to 7 years in the ocean. This journey is fraught with many dangers, obstacles, and difficulties—predators, rapids, fishers. They must bravely travel sometimes thousands of miles to find home, the exact river where they were born. They must change their body function, to adapt to fresh water. After this, they spawn to give new life, and then they die.

The journey of salmon tells us a lot about our life on Earth. We must work hard to survive because it just is not a favorable place for us. It is not our true home. We have to accept hardships and pain and adapt to it.

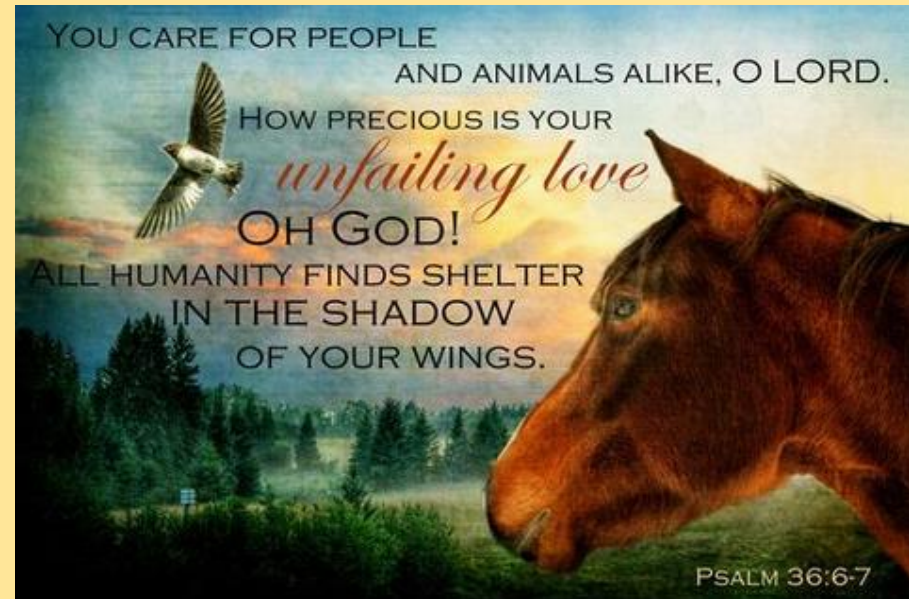

The Bible tells us (Phil 3:20) that we will go to our eternal home in heaven, where there is no pain, no sorrow, no death. We now are in a spiritual estuary where the homeward bound journey starts. To go upstream, we have to change our bodies, just like the salmon, to adapt to the words of God. Today, the freshwater that gives us a new life is flowing from the Spirit and the Bride (Rev 22:17, Ezekiel 46:8). However, just like the salmon, the Bible teaches us that we will face a lot of hardships and difficulties before reaching our eternal home (Acts 14:22).

Like the salmon, going upstream and overcoming all the obstacles, let us make every effort in our journey. Don't be troubled or dismayed. God teaches us to overcome, just like he overcame (John 19:32).

Announcements

Prayer Meeting: Wednesdays from 3 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall. The group is studying Ephesians.

Prayer Requests: Call Janet Remitz at 406-847-5526.

Our Hymn of the Month: "Let All Things Now Living" is a popular harvest thanksgiving song, using Old Testament images to call all creatures to direct praise to God the Creator because he made us and provides for us. Katherine Davis, who wrote the text, is best known for having written "The Little Drummer Boy."

November 2020 Stewpot is now available: The subject of this month's issue is "A Declaration of Interdependence" (referencing Galatians 6:2, to share each other's burdens). Electronic copies available on request to Beth.

Thanksgiving Community Dinner: From 1 p.m., Wednesday, November 25. Details coming soon.

Sabbath, December 12, Christmas Open House: A special event for our church and community. Details coming soon.

Clark Fork, sunset tonight: 4:15 p.m.; next Friday night: 4:07 p.m.
