May 18-23, 2014

May 20

Hello Praying Church,

My family has a have a prayer request. Sindy will not be working at the day care this summer unless more kids are enrolled resulting in a loss of income. Please pray that the day care will have in increase in enrollment. We also have medical bills and car repairs that are coming in along with some other bills right at this time of reduced income. Thank you for praying that God will take special interest for us during this time of financial uncertainty. From Rod and Sindy Vorderstrasse

Need my Prayer warriors to claim Ps. 121

May 21

I am headed to Omaha. Nurse called and I am fighting with my new kidney. I am going to do diaphoreses to haul the antib's off. Biopsy etc. Yesterday I sat on front porch and God spoke with me loud and clear. It was beautiful. Ps. 121. I will take care of you now and forever. I am the mighty creature. You run to me. I wept and praised the Lord. I now claim that. What God says He will do; He does. I know this from experience. This is just a bump in the road. I have Jesus hand clasp in mine and I won't let go. I am His princess and He loves me so much. Courage my friends. Courage. Satan hates me and wants to kill me. God says no. I am your Modern day Job. I will be like Job and go to battle. Dina Horst already prayed the armor of God on me. I am Sheba the warrior princess headed to Omaha. You have to find humor in the sorrow other wise you loose your mind. I can do this. I have been doing this all my life. This is nothing new. Just disappointing. I have my Bible and hope. I have the Maker on my side. I have my friends lifting me up before the throne. I have my family and spiritual family. I know I am loved and can do this. Yes, I will shed my tears, but joy will come in the morning. May you see the mighty hand of God shine. May your be encouraged and lifted up closer to heaven with me. This is my prayer. I just love it how God prepares me and He gave me His word yesterday. I have hope and I believe. From Dena
