Key Concept for Spiritual Growth

That the battle of Armageddon is spiritual does not mean that it will be less tough and real than actual military battles: “For we do not wrestle against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this age, against spiritual hosts of wickedness in the heavenly places” (Eph. 6:12). For the first time in history, all the forces of evil will gather and will reveal more fully their real faces and real intentions. The spiritual battle has a cosmic scope. Our present daily struggles will be intensified.

Knowing based on head knowledge is one degree of knowing, but knowing by experience is much deeper.

We are all in the school of life, and we learn more and more as we make our journey. The psalmist David spoke often about those who have experience with the Lord. He said those who have experience with God’s mercy will lean on and confidently put their trust in Him. (see Psalm 9:10). As we experience the goodness, kindness, mercy, unconditional love, and generosity of God, it gives us confidence that we can trust Him in any kind of situation. Even if He doesn’t give us what we hoped for, we will eventually see that He does always give us the best thing for us. Just because we don’t understand God’s reasons for why He does things the way He does them, it doesn’t mean that His ways are not right. We eventually do understand, although sometimes it takes a lifetime to do so.

But we do (strongly and earnestly) desire for each of you to show the same diligence and sincerity (all the way through) in realizing and enjoying the full assurance and development of (your) hope until the end. Hebrews 6:11 (AMPC)
