Red Cardinals

All together again
It's all we could do but to laugh

It's been rough,
You know

But she always had her fierce
And gentle strength

Old memories with you told again, like a flower again blooming.
Must have been so soothing.

We'll be okay
Though we wish you could stay

You left us with no better example,
Than how you handled the hard things.

You were swept away so quickly,
Like the wind beneath the wings of a cardinal.

We'll miss that soft spoken tone
Of your loving voice

But we'll think of you
Whenever we see

The red cardinals
You loved so much.

-In loving memory of Grandma, Kathy Viehweg
