

Please let me keep on going, Lord,
 From dawn to setting sun,
 till I'm no longer needed
 And all my work is done.
 Please let me be around to see
 My little ones grow strong,
 And keep my shoulder handy
 For their tears when things go wrong.
 Please let me make our home a place
 They're happy to be in --
 And help me by example
 To keep them free from sin.
 For not until they're all prepared
 To face life's rocky road
 Does any mother dare to drop
 Her burden and her load.
 It's only then that she can feel
 She's truly earned her rest
 As thankfully she whispers, "Lord --
 I've done my very best!"
