

When Tomorrow Starts Without Me

When tomorrow starts without me
And I'm not here to see
If the sun should rise and find your eyes
All filled with tears for me

I wish you wouldn't cry
The way you did today
While thinking of the many things
We didn't get to say

I know how much you love me
As much as I love you
Each time that you think of me
I know you'll miss me too

When tomorrow starts without me
Please try to understand
That an angel came and called my name
And took me by the hand

The angel said my place was ready
In Heaven far above
And That I would have to leave behind
All those I dearly love

So when tomorrow starts without me
Do not think we're apart
For every time you think of me
Remember I'm right here in your heart.

A FATHER & DAUGHTER

There is a very special bond between a Daughter & her dad,
A closeness which grows deeper through the years.
It starts the very moment that his "baby girl" is born,
And strengths as she shares her hopes and fears.
All throughout her lifetime she is Daddy's Little girl...
She looks at him with such adoring eyes.
He teaches her about the world with tenderness and love,
She sees her Dad as gentle and as wise.
She knows that she can turn to him on any given day,
And he'll be there to help her if he can.
He'll always make the time for her, that's simply how it is.
She quickly learns ... he's just that kind of man.
And as they travel through life ... their love grows deeper still,
each grateful for the blessings they have had.
Knowing, without question, that the greatest gift of all,
is the love shared by a Daughter and her dad!

HIS STORY

Herman V. King Jr., 83, of King William County, Virginia, passed away on June 23, 2024 in Philadelphia, PA. Herman was born in King William County, Virginia to Herman V. King Sr. and Elsie Robinson on July 17, 1940. He was affectionately known as Herm, Junie, or Jr.

He went to school in King William County, Virginia. He graduated from King William Training School. He started playing baseball at a young age and became very good at it. He worked on the family farm for a while. Herman joined the Army at the age of 19. After his honorable discharge, he started his life in Philadelphia, went to college for a little and got straight to working. He was a veteran of the Vietnam War and was awarded a Good Conduct Medal.

Herman played card games better than anyone I know. If you were looking for Herman, he was always at a card table. He loved walking, and he took Iesha out for a walk daily, and when his grandbaby Shaniyah was born he did the same with her. He was a man of few words but loved family time.

Herman worked as a Trash truck driver for the City of Philadelphia for many years. Herman worked at Budd Manufacturing Plant, and DLC Transportation services, where he retired from. Herman ended up going back to work at Philadelphia Senior Center until 2020 and when Covid started he retired again.

He was baptized at an early age at Baptist Liberty Church in King William, Virginia.

He was formerly married to Virginia King who he met at a young age. To this union they had Almeta King, Arnold King, Valerie King, and Vernell King together. Later on in life, Herman met Dolores Hatcher, the mother of his last daughter Iesha Hatcher. They spent every day together for the last 33 years up until she passed on in March 2020. They enjoyed going for long drives, shopping together, having house parties, Dolores loved to cook for Herman, and they enjoyed going to the casino together, while raising their daughter Iesha. Herman helped Dolores raise two of her children from a previous relationship as his own. Herman helped care for grandbaby Shaniyah while being the best pop pop, he was always there and never missed a beat in their life.

Herman is preceded in death by long time spouse, Dolores Hatcher, mother Elsie Robinson, father Herman King Sr., and his grandparents who he adored, Julia Robinson who raised him and John Lincoln Robinson who taught him "A Man That Dont Work Dont Eat"

Herman is survived by his children, Arnold King, Almeta King, Valerie King, Vernell King, Iesha Hatcher, Tanya Hatcher, Rajeeb Hatcher; grandchildren, Shaniyah Hatcher, Cierra, William, Shakeeta, Shamar, Shamir, Nasir and Kasani'; and a host of cousins, nieces and nephews.

Lovingly Submitted,
