The Obituary

Today, we gather to honor the life of our dear Delores Detrice Atkinson. Delores was born on September 24, 1959, in Newark, New Jersey, to the late John Mason and Edith Williams.

Raised in Newark and a graduate of Westside High School, Delores later moved to North Carolina to be with her extended family.

Throughout her life, Delores held various jobs and faced challenges, but she had a heart of gold and cherished her family deeply. Growing up in a Christian household in New Jersey shaped her character.

Delores was preceded in death by her eldest son, Jeremiah Atkinson, two brothers, Al Tereek and Al Sharif Williams, and one grandson, Kh'aire Atkinson.

Delores is survived by three sons: Antwain Atkinson of Smithfield, North Carolina; Cedrick Atkinson and Frederick Adams of Shelby, North Carolina. She is also remembered by 20 grandchildren, five great-grandchildren, and one great aunt, Trudy Hoover of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, as well as one sister, Joanne Williams of Newark, New Jersey.

A Mother's Love is something that no one can explain,
It is made of deep devotion and of sacrifice and pain,

It is endless and unselfish and enduring come what may For nothing can destroy it or take that love away . . .
It is patient and forgiving
when all others are forsaking,
And it never fails or falters even though the heart is breaking . . .
It believes beyond believing when the world around condemns,
And it glows with all the beauty of the rarest, brightest gems . . .
It is far beyond defining,
it defies all explanation,
And it still remains a secret like the mysteries of creation . . .
A many splendored miracle man cannot understand And another wondrous evidence of God's tender guiding hand.
