

BIGGEST-EVER DECANTER WORLD WINE AWARDS IN 2022

Full results released from the world's largest and most influential wine competition

7 June: Full results from the Decanter World Wine Awards (DWWA) 2022 have been released, revealing impressive wins from established wine producers as well as surprise wins from incredibly diverse emerging regions across the globe. It is a record-breaking year for the DWWA 2022 with a total of 18,244 wines tasted from 54 countries.

Now in its 19th year, the DWWA is the world's largest and most influential wine competition with unrivalled global reach. Judged by top wine experts from around the world, DWWA is trusted internationally for its rigorous judging process. This year, almost 250 expert judges, including 41 Masters of Wine and 13 Master Sommeliers joined the judging panel.

Judging took place over two weeks in London in April followed by a final round of tasting where Gold medal-winning wines were re-categorised by country, region, subregion, grape, vintage and price band, and re-tasted by Regional Chairs and Co-Chairs. The best wines are then promoted to Platinum medals. There were 163 Platinum and 678 Gold medals awarded in this year's DWWA, making up 0.9% and 3.7% respectively of the total wines tasted. And amongst the Platinums, only 50 wines were awarded a prestigious Best in Show medal.

Best in Show medals

Ronan Sayburn MS, Co-Chair at DWWA 2022, says, "these wines have been through a lot of hands and palates from those who work in the wine business, to get to that medal-winning level – whether that's a Bronze, Silver, Gold, Platinum or Best in Show. So, if it gets to the point where it's a Platinum, it really is the best of the best".

As part of the judging process there is an importance placed on price brackets which is unique to DWWA. In 2022, there were 10 Value Best in Show winners, meaning less than £15 retail, from Spain, France, Chile, Italy, Argentina and Portugal; including Chilean Carignan, Bordeaux Cabernet Sauvignon and Cabernet Franc from Mendoza.

Co-Chair Sarah Jane Evans MW says, "We're all very price conscious at the moment so we are looking for value. A value wine rarely has the same kind of interior complexity that something that's going to be over £50 would have. However, what you can get is a terrifically delicious expression of fruit and you can still express the place that it comes from so we have a lot of focus on those."

France was awarded 10 Best in Show medals with two Value Best in Show from Bordeaux, including Savas, Cuvée Eva, Bordeaux Blanc 2020, which judges commented, "Bordeaux is rarely acclaimed as a source of great-value Sauvignon... but there is a class to the fruit which is rare at this level and which will provide much drinking pleasure for Sauvignon fans."

Eight went to Italy making it the second most successful country in this category. Australia received an impressive six Best in Show medals, more than any of its New World counterparts. Japan won a Platinum medal which was awarded to a Koshu from the country's southern island Kyushu: Sanwa Shurui, Ajimu Moroya Koshu 2021, and it's the region's first-ever win at the DWWA.

2019 who took special measures having their bottles hand-delivered via Hungary, knowing that winning this prestigious award would be the key to higher export success and crucial income. There was also a first-ever entry from Andorra which won Bronze: Borda Sabate, Escol Riesling 2016, and success in Armenia with a Gold medal for Noa, Noah of Areni 2019; with five Golds awarded since the DWWA 2019 it could well be a country to watch. China is another country to watch with excellent results this year, winning 234 medals, including 17 Gold and 64 Silver. The 17 Gold Medals comprised nine reds, two dry whites, one rosé, one sparkling and four sweet wines.

More highlights from DWWA 2022

Noteworthy highlights include orange wines; there were six Gold winners from Croatia, Georgia, Italy and France, and a Platinum for Dvorska Šoškić, Haiku, Plešivica, Continental, Croatia 2019 made with Riesling and Manzoni Bianco. Rosé wines also came out strong in the competition with one Best in Show (Hacienda López De Haro, Classica Rosado, Rioja, Spain 2009), two Platinum and and nine Gold, with four of the Gold from Provence.

How the DWWA judging process works: Decanter World Wine Awards: Journey of the bottle

About DWWA

Launched in 2004 and now in its 19th year, the Decanter World Wine Awards (DWWA) is the world's largest and most influential wine competition.

Decanter has a trusted relationship with an international audience of both consumers and trade that sets DWWA apart from other competitions. Sustainability is a key focus for the DWWA team. All plastic and cardboard is collected and recycled, while every bottle is crushed and remelted, ready to be remade into usable glass within 30 days. All leftover wine is also collected, recycled and sold back into the national grid as gas.
