

CHIROPRACTOR'S PRAYER

Thank you, Lord
to give my hands strength and purpose, protect
them as they do
your work.

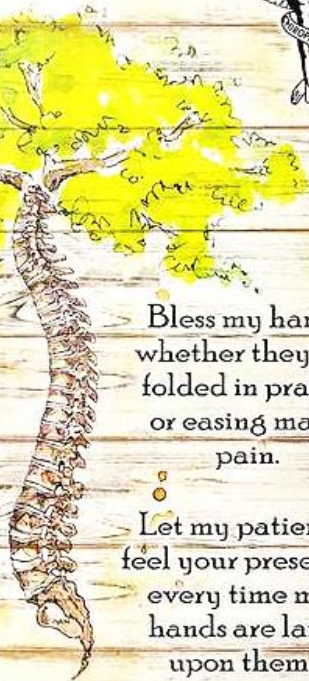

Just as patients
commit their
health into my hands, I commit my spirit to yours.

Thank you for the opportunity to practice
this art which only you could conceive.

And help me to remember your nail scarred hands as they are proof in your ultimate healing power.

Bless my hands
whether they are
folded in prayer
or easing man's pain.

Let my patients
feel your presence
every time my
hands are laid
upon them.

Thank you to Dr. Christine Brandner and Gracey McCloud for keeping Plath Chiropractic and Wellness Center running and for serving our patients with such love.

Scott Richmond Plath was born August 27, 1953 in Yankton, SD to Dr CJ “Corky” and Grace (Richmond) Plath. He grew up in Yankton and had an eventful childhood. Scott had open-heart surgery at 5 years old. He spent the rest of his life “testing” his guardian angels.

While “running” from the profession of chiropractic, Scott tried his hand at many other trades in his youth. Realizing that chiropractic was indeed his calling and passion, he dedicated his professional life to learning, bringing the latest technology and services to his patients. Scott was proud to be a third generation Chiropractor and his patients were both his friends and family. He attended many of their life events.

Scott had a great sense of humor and made us all laugh, even Missy finally admitted that he was funny. He was truly on the road to being a recreational specialist. Doc enjoyed a fine cigar, a good glass of wine, a windless day on the golf course, and well-maintained bowling alley lanes, along with hunting, fishing, and shooting but what he enjoyed the most was spending time with his family. He will be missed not only for his big heart, but for his “Big breakfasts” and his Chef Pierre No-hair personality.

Those that knew him would describe Scott as a family man, a charismatic doctor, but most importantly a loyal friend.

Dr Scott Richmond Plath, age 68, passed peacefully in his Yankton home, surrounded by family, Friday, May 20, 2022.

Scott is survived by his wife Missy; children: Brian (Niki) Plath-Bobby, Daniel (Alexandria), Zach Adair, Jason (Kristin) Plath-Jackson and Ryder, Kristin (Bob) Heckenlaible-Emmalyn, Landon, Brinley and Bria, Allison (Damon) Jarabek, Courtney (Nick) Neville, Gabriel Plath (Gracey McCloud), William and CJ Plath; his mother, Grace Plath; sister, Shelly (George) Williams; brother, Kirk (Kim) Plath; his mother-in-law, Wanda Dolejsi; sister-in-law, Laura (Daniel) Horacek; brother-in-law, Willie Russaw; 9 nieces and nephews and his beloved family of patients.

He was preceded in death by his father, CJ Plath; step-father, Bill Tyler; father-in-law, Larry Dolejsi; sister-in-law, Carrie Russaw; daughter, Isabelle and granddaughters, Sariel, Faith, and Hope.
