Briefly describe the setup/beginning of the story.

Please replace my blurb with this one, thanks.

Visiting a friend in the Yukon, Georgia Charles discovers she's pregnant. She's then kidnapped by bank robbers and escapes into a vast winter wilderness in northern British Columbia. Against all odds, she struggles to survive lost, pregnant and alone. Her journey to empowerment tests her physically, emotionally and mentally.

Briefly describe the end of the story.

Please replace my blurb with this one, thanks.

Georgia Charles is discovered by the cabin owner and begins her integration back into society. She deals with her ex-husband, signs a book and movie contract for her survival story and begins a new life for herself and her newborn daughter.

Specific to local area/community interest group?

Yes, I'd say local women's groups, abused women. I've had a lot of feedback from women who were inspired to be strong after reading this book.

Under additional Characters I listed Colin Charles.

Role?

Ex-husband.
