

In Honor of Sheldon

*His spirit was as free as the wind, but grounded by his family.
The mountains were his true home,
for he knew the trails,
like he knew the back of his working hands.
Idaho was his home,
He knew its land and history,
from the Bonneville flood,
to the rising of the mountains.
We know he's riding on new trails now,
and when we see him,
He'll know them,
like the back of his working hands.*

*Love,
Shawntel*
