A Tribute to Our Father
Written by Mike and Leona Day

Where the shadows gather deepest
So forsaken and alone
Death did cast her spell of sorrow
When she took you from our home
Though she hovered closely sometimes
Never did she come to pay
A call, as she passed through at midnight
Till she beckoned you away.

Now the springtime in her glory
Smiles as usual down the years,
But in our hearts there is no springtime
Instead of sunshine there is tears,
But even clouds of deepest blackness
Always have another side,
There will be a silver lining
If we with His plan abide.

God don't really mean to hurt us
He has plans He must fulfill,
And there'll come a big reunion
If we carry out His will,
On a golden shore at dawning
Just beyond the Jordon side;
We'll meet safely' cross the river
For the Lord will be our guide.

The chain no more will then be broken
Just one happy family all,
We'll prepare to meet you father
When we answer to His call,
But in the meantime share His glory
While we with His plans abide,
And we'll bear our cross with courage
Till we cross that great divide.
