Mrs. Davidson's Class

This week has been a whirlwind for me! I was gone Monday-Wednesday for NPUC Ed Council meetings at Walla Walla University. Thank you to my substitute teachers who filled in during my absence. The students did not rest while I was gone, however, and have been doing great work. In science they are continuing their studies of magnets and electricity, and learning how the two things can work together. They have also been improving their tumbling skills in PE, and in Bible we are studying the story of Jacob. This week's stories included Jacob's dream about a ladder to heaven, and his deal with Laban to be paid in sheep.

Thursday was our second Ski and Skate Day. The kids all had fun playing on the snow and ice, and improving their skills. It was a beautiful day up at Bogus Basin, until the last hour when the fog moved in. We have two more ski days in the next two weeks, and one more skate day next Thursday.

Next Tuesday we will be visiting the Idaho State Capitol Building in Boise. Surprisingly, many of our students have never been to the capitol, so it should be very educational.

We have successfully completed 100 days of school! The kids can say they are 100 days smarter! We celebrated Friday with a 100 day party where we did everything in 100's. We counted to 100 with snack, rhyming words, exercise, songs, found 100 Hershey kisses, read a 100 day book, built with 100 blocks and more! It was a fun day celebrating! Thanks for the snack items!

In social studies we learned about another culture...African. The land looks different than ours, they dress different, and their grocery store is different than ours. They family even cooked outside on a fire. They made pancakes and the little boy invited everyone they met on the way to the store. Mama was worried that they would have enough money to buy stuff to make pancakes for everyone coming. But everyone who came brought something for dinner...it was a wonderful meal. After they played songs on the thumb piano. We had to buy for our classroom. It came in and we have enjoyed playing on it. It is fun to learn about different cultures.

We have been working really hard on mastering matching our lower and upper case letters. We are doing good with it. We also are still working on the concepts of reading. I love to see their eyes light up when they accomplish something they have been striving for!

We ended our Moses unit with the story of Manna. God provides for us in many ways. God led Moses and the Israelites and even performed a miracle with a log! How cool would that have been to witness!

Next week we start our new unit...Brrrr...our story is Balto...such a great story!

Teacher Holly's Class

We are learning about T in CREATION. Trust! Daniel trusted the Lord with every aspect of his life. Though he was to be put in the lion's den if he prayed to anyone but the king, he still prayed to God. Because of this, the Lord shut the lion's mouth.

The children liked building fine motor skills by rolling playdough into snakes and balls.

As I introduce various shapes, we've been looking around the room for them.

We have a new Teacher on Grandma Tuesday. Kelly will be working Tuesdays and fill in as needed.

Teacher Cecilia went to Argentina to be with her family as they process the loss of her father. Upon returning, she has accepted a job at another child care center that can give her full-time employment. Cecilia and her family will be greatly missed. We wish her all the best.
