What is means to be a Lagasse
by David Lagasse

Good afternoon family, I'm going to kick it old school (Family Book)! I want to post what it means to be a Lagasse' to me.
It is to have a kind heart and soul,

To give more than one takes,

To treat everyone with respect,

To communicate well (tone & word choice),

To independently own up to one's choices in life (via: responsibilities, repercussions, punishments, and suffering),

To not ask of others to do more than one is willing to do in return,

To put responsibilities before (Yolo, or frivolous spending),

To be the BEST mothers, fathers, sisters, brothers, etc. (especially to fellow Lagasse'), To never purposely or ignorantly inflict hardship on others lives,

To own up to their mistakes and apologize,

To want the BEST for all of those around them,

To deserve the respect of the community for being amazing people!   (No these people aren't perfect and do make mistakes), however these are people that own it and handle their business.

To know a Lagasse' you have a friend for life! You will always have a helping hand or a shoulder, with a Lagasse' in your corner! They bring so much positive to your life, that it just doesn't make sense to disrespect or harm them in any way! You want them in your corner in life! You will not regret it!!!

These are the rules I try my best to follow! I want to be a Lagasse' (do you?).

I love you all dearly! I hope you all have a wonderful day!
