Tears

Tears are falling from the eyes that long to see your face. Arms that used to hold you tight now miss your sweet embrace.

Lips wish they could say goodbye and kiss you just once more. Feet would like to run to where you are past Heaven's door.

Hearts left behind are broken because they miss you so.
You were loved while on this earth more than you could know.

Time will dry our falling tears and broken hearts will mend.
And happiness will fill our hearts when we're with you again.
