Hello Team,

Can you believe it's been almost a year since we started your certification process?

I am so proud of the coaches that have gotten qualified.

Big shout out and congratulations for your hard work and dedication!!

I look forward to building solid coaching relationships with you.

I know several of you are still in process with your qualification process. As

November nears it's imperative for you to complete your coaching mentor hours because after November there will be an additional fee for mentor coaching.

We started the marketing and sales process for our coaches. Part of this plan is we intend to sell our coaching services in October at Speak and Write in Atlanta.

We are doing our best to plan, prepare and project who will be ready.

Will you be ready?

Look out for communication from Alyse McConnell to support the certification process.

If you have any questions or concerns please contact me directly
