Music Notes:

The prelude this morning is based on the delightful hymn, Forest Green, a traditional English melody. This particular organ setting was arranged by Richard Purvis, long-time organist at Grace Cathedral in San Francisco, whom I have had the privilege of hearing play on occasion. The opening Gathering Hymn is another setting of Forest Green, the words honoring Jesus' Resurrection and Ascension. May the awesomeness of the words cheer us on. The offertory is a contemporary setting of a hymn we often sing during the Thanksgiving season, For the Beauty of the Earth. To close the service I have chosen a favorite postlude by Alec Rowley that you are probably quite familiar with by now.
