Weekly Themes

March 20 – 24, 2017: Water, Water Everywhere!

This week of camp is all about water! About 70% of the Earth is covered in water and that water is home to 94% of all living things on Earth, yet water is a limited resource that must be conserved. Throughout the week we will explore much of the life – both large and small – that calls water home, and how the same water has been traveling the world for billions of years. Dive in to a week of fun science activities, field trips, and more – and be prepared to get wet!
