

May the One who blesses all life bless and heal all who struggle with illness. May those afflicted with difficulty be blessed with faith, courage, loving and caring. May they know much support and sustenance from their friends, their loving companions, and their communities.

May they be granted a full and complete healing of body and soul. May those who seek knowledge of new ways of healing and those who care for others be blessed with courage, stamina and communal support. Let us restore to Shekhinah her place.

This is to acknowledge that
