Please include your project summary below, with up to one paragraph or four sentences maximum, to describe the project. This text will be read at the event if you win. Do not identify project or design firm name anywhere in the text.

INstory Award Statement

The INstory Award recognizes a project from any category that has overcome tough challenges, was built under extraordinary circumstances, and/or has a particularly compelling narrative. This award is in addition to your main entry category. However, this is an OPTIONAL field, as not all entries will qualify for this category. The winner of this award will provide a story that clearly shows how the project was completed despite unexpected or unusual conditions.

Past winners addressed devastating natural disasters, social change, and unforeseen budget cutbacks. Given this year's unprecedented global pandemic, racial inequities and climate driven forest fires, we believe this category is more important than ever. If you believe your design went above and beyond that of a standard project, please provide a statement here. Please leave space below blank to opt out of consideration for INstory.

If this project wins the INstory Award, this statement will be read during the ceremony as part of the introduction.

Do not identify project or design firm name anywhere in the text.

Notes on images: There is a limit of 8 images per entry, with a max file size of 25 MB per upload. Since this is an interior design competition, the images should primarily be of interior spaces. If appropriate, include a maximum of 2 exterior images to establish context or show the relationship between interior & exterior if desired. Logos, branding, and signage are often integrated into the interior environment, so it is acceptable to include them in project images.

- Before uploading images, rename files in the following format:
 - "Project #" Image "#", for example "H07 Image #3"
 - Click on "In Progress" on the left to find your assigned project number, under the column "#"

- Resolution should be sufficient for large screen projection and web publishing.

- Do not add borders, etc., to the image.

- If you wish to add a caption, use the caption box provided below; do not make it part of the jpg file.
