

This ministry is dedicated to a progressive understanding of truth apropos to the last generation to live on earth.

---

Welcome to EndTime Issues...This document probes into the date when Artaxerxes I issued his "restoration" decree. There have been problems. This is a step towards their resolution.

This Month's Special Book Offer (The Loud Cry – workbook/outline format)

An exciting review of the last warning message the earth will ever hear. Regular price: $15.00. Special Offer: $13.00 plus shipping & handling of $3.50 for first book and $1.00 postage each book thereafter for the U.S. (for outside the U.S., please email for figures).

THE DECREE TO RESTORE AND BUILD

(DANIEL 9:25)

Much controversy surrounds the meaning of the "going forth" (mowtsa) command or decree to restore God's people back to Israel's theocracy (Daniel 9:25). Various translations have adapted these phrases:

- "from the issuing of a decree" (NAS, NIV)
- "from the issuing of the command" (NET)
- "from the time the command is given" (NLT)
- "from the time the word went out" (NRS)

Intriguingly, though this expression states that the prophetic command will begin the 483-year period, many expositors loosely apply its onset to a "year" without identifying a season or sacred time. That is a problem. Also:

- It does not say that it began when Ezra started his journey.
- Nor does it imply a starting point when he arrived in Jerusalem.
- It states, “from the issuing of the decree.”

Though minimally discussed in the literature, prophecy tells us specifically when that decree had to have been given. This study is submitted to address that issue.

The last part of verse 25 relates to what is to be restored. Gabriel’s message to Daniel is in direct answer to his stunning prayer earlier in the ninth chapter. Literalists read into that verse a rebuilding of city assets. But the theme of Daniel 8–12 is highly symbolic and full of important spiritual metaphors. The actual city and temple restoration was ordered by Cyrus.

“This is what the LORD says – I am the LORD ... who carries out the words of his servants and fulfills the predictions of his messengers ... who says of Cyrus, ‘He is my shepherd and will accomplish all that I please; he will say of Jerusalem, “Let it be rebuilt,” and of the temple, “Let its foundations be laid.”’ I have raised him up in righteousness, and I will direct all his ways: he shall build my city, and he shall let go my captives, not for price nor reward, saith the LORD of hosts” (Isaiah 44:24, 28; 45:13 – NIV).

The historical restoration of that desolate Judean country is another topic beyond the purpose of this discussion. It is important to note that Artaxerxes I’s decree in Ezra 7:11-26 is spiritual and orders the Jewish theocracy to be re-established. That command fits the theme of a spiritual restoration in preparation for Messiah the Prince (9:25).

At the terminus a quo (beginning) of the “seventy weeks” prophecy is a command, word or decree (dabar – H) to “restore.” The prophecy – which is time driven – begins when this word goes out. If the distinct time periods and their endings noted are precise, so must be their times and dates of onset. Evidence suggests that the Magi from the east were students of Jewish writings when they made the discovery of Christ’s birth. Daniel 9 contributed to that understanding. It is a prophetic record of details.

The restoration decree was given by Artaxerxes I in his seventh year of reign (Ezra 7:7). This man was king of Persia from 465 to 425 B.C., when he died. In spite of a long and peaceful reign, this is noted:

“There are no archeological remains of the reign of Artaxerxes I, with the exception of a single inscription on a building in Susa and an alabaster vase in Paris which bears his name in Persian, Susian, Babylonian cuneiform, and in hieroglyphs. All information concerning him is derived from the accounts of Greek writers, especially the fragments of Ctesias, and from the statements of the books of Ezra and Nehemiah.”<sup>1</sup>

The Greeks gave him the name Longimanus because his right hand was longer than his left.<sup>2</sup> Thus, he is noted in literature as Artaxerxes I or Artaxerxes Longimanus.

Daniel, Ezra and Nehemiah used regnal (reigning) years, and by making the “accession year year zero, applying it to the Jewish civil 12-month calendar, running from Tishri 1 to Elul 29. Thus, Artaxerxes I’s seventh year was the seventh full year of his reign, beginning in the fall with the month of Tishri. This system of applying kingdom leadership goes back to Solomon's time.<sup>3</sup> This reckoning was used in spite of the use of a Babylonian calendar year (with Abib or Nissan beginning their year) paralleling the Jewish sacred year throughout the Medo-Persian Empire.

---

<sup>1</sup> “Artaxerxes I,” www.Jewishencyclopedia.com

<sup>2</sup> Ibid., p. 2.

Artaxerxes I's father was Xerxes. He was murdered by an aide (Artabanus) in 465 B.C. This occurred on December 17, which meant that the ascension year was from that date to the next Tishri 1 of 464 B.C. In 464 B.C. the regnal years would then start to be counted.<sup>4</sup> Coordinating three calendars will be done graphically further on in this article.

Ezra notes that he left Babylon with a "copy of the letter" or decree (Ezra 7:11) on the first day of the first month and arrived on the first day of the fifth month at Jerusalem (7:9). When the term "month" is used, the Jewish writers revert back to the sacred calendar, beginning with Nissan (Abib). If this had not been so, the thousands traveling with him would have traveled in the winter or wet season [i.e., Tishri–Shevat (secular year)]. It would have been nearly impossible to travel during the cold and rainy months.

The men were taking with them their wives and children, and all their substance, besides returning large treasures of the temple and its service to Jerusalem. The time and organization had to be optimal and extensive.<sup>5</sup> The decree had to have been months before this journey started in the spring of 457 B.C. (during Artaxerxes I's seventh year).

---

<sup>3</sup> Shea, William H.; Journal of the Adventist Theological Society, February 1, 1991, pp. 115-138.

<sup>4</sup> Cowley, A. E.; Aramaic Papyri of the Fifth Century B.C. (Oxford: Oxford University, 1923). Papyrus No. 6 appears on pp. 15-18 of this work (a quote by Shea).

<sup>5</sup> White, Ellen, G.; Prophets and Kings, p. 615.

The Prophecy, the Decree, the Fulfillment

Tishri 1 through Elul 29 = Solar/Civil Year Calendar
Gregorian Years	Regnal Years for Artaxerxes I
465*– 464 (Elul 29)	Artaxerxes I's ascension year (6½ months)
464 – 463	1 Tishri 1 – Elul 29
463 – 462	2 Tishri 1 – Elul 29
462 – 461	3 Tishri 1 – Elul 29
461 – 460	4 Tishri 1 – Elul 29
460 – 459	5 Tishri 1 – Elul 29
459 – 458	6 Tishri 1 – Elul 29
458 – 457	7 Tishri 1 – Elul 29
	Nissan 1, 457 B.C. – Ezra left Babylon
	Av 1, 457 – Ezra arrived in Jerusalem
	*(December 17 – Xerxes murdered)

The years of kingdom rule are based upon solar time. This would cover from the month of Tishri to the end of Elul. As Artaxerxes I assumed power, first in the ascension “year,” then the regnal years, this graphic display unfolds how to parallel various calendrical cycles:

Notice how the events and markers of the last regnal year associated with this prophecy flow in this sequence.

To understand the timing of the issuance of the document, we must review another part of this vision that was given to Daniel 5–6 years previously.

The vision of the ram, he-goat and little horn had ended (Daniel 8:12). This was called ha hazon or “the vision” (starting with Daniel 8:2). Then Gabriel came on the scene and asked Jesus, the “whoever it may be,” the “one saint speaking,” the “certain saint” (all elevated, respectful language), timing questions related to the “little horn” (Daniel 8:13). That part of Daniel’s vision/audition was still designated ha hazon. Jesus, however, responds to another vision (8:14) that was then called the mareh (8:26).

Ha hazon and the mareh visions were not finished at that time because Daniel fainted (8:27). Though the Hebrew analysis is extensive, a resumé of these two visions is very helpful:

ha hazon	mareh
(conflict between good and evil) Vision for the far future, called “time of the end” Sealed portion of Daniel Wouldn’t be understood until the “time of the end” (When God’s wrath comes     When sin reaches its peak     When Jesus has a “host” or corporate body     When the little horn/vial person/king of the north exerts its global power)	(deliverance message for God’s people) Daniel finally understands (Daniel 10:1) Not sealed Many timing prophecies within the mareh:     2300 years – identified as “evening morning”     490 years     3½ years     1290 days     1335 days

The 2300-year prophecy of Jesus’ (Note: KJV is not translated correctly; NIV is better) in Daniel 8:14 is continued by Gabriel in 9:24-26a. In 8:26 Gabriel notes that the mareh was the evening and the morning and it was “true.”

That is profound information. This is how the Daniel 8:14 wording actually flows in Hebrew: “Until 2300 evening morning holy vindicated.” Gabriel said that he came to give Daniel skill and understanding. Therefore: “understand the matter and consider the [mareh] vision” (9:23). The deliverance counsel begins with 9:24. The 8:14 introduction theme fits after the word “cease” in verse 9:27.

The late Jewish scholar Umberto Cassuto, in his book From Adam to Noah: A Commentary of Genesis I–VI (never finished), 1961, noted that when the words “evening morning” are in that order, it is a sacred allusion. Indeed, the great Day of Atonement was the day when God’s judicial decisions were made. That occurred on Tishri 10. It was a sacred time that began the evening before by putting away all sin from the precincts of the sanctuary – a cleansing. Holiness had come in once again.

“Also on the tenth day of this seventh month there shall be a day of atonement: it shall be an holy convocation unto you; and ye shall afflict your souls, and offer an offering made by fire unto the LORD.... Ye shall do no manner of work: it shall be a statute for ever throughout your generations in all your dwellings. It shall be unto you a sabbath of rest, and ye shall afflict your souls: in the ninth day of the month at even, from even unto even, shall ye celebrate your sabbath” (Leviticus 23:27, 31-32). Thus, the evening occurred first, then the morning of the next day. A sacred period is in evidence.

Thus, the evening–morning designation is symbolic in these prophecies for Atonement. That truly was when holiness was vindicated or legally adjudicated. Thus, in Daniel 8:14 we know it is 2300 years because it is 2300 evening-morning Atonements – an annual, recurring event.

Since the 490-year prophecy is a mareh message that has a beginning decree (9:25) and since the 2300 evening–morning prophecy is also part of the mareh message that begins with an Atonement, Daniel 9's vision must commence with this fall feast! Thus, though we do not have a historical Medo-Persian secular document to affirm this, this prophecy notes that it must be the beginning of both prophecies in the fall before Ezra leaves in the spring of the next year.

That means that the 483-year period (9:25 – seven weeks, sixty and two weeks) decree to re-establish holiness begins on Atonement – Tishri 10 of 458 B.C. Tishri 1, 458 to Elul 29, 457 B.C. would be Artaxerxes I's regnal year seven. It is assumed that Christ's baptism was His début into His three and a half years of ministry preceding the Cross. This would, therefore, be:

From the decree to restore to Messiah the Prince is 483 years.  $483 + 1 - 458 = 26$  A.D. – anointing/baptism of Jesus in the fall during Trumpets – a vital link (another topic).

This date is at variance with the many baptismal years of some scholars. But it solves many other issues. The time of Trumpets is a time of testing – judgment. That is Christ's first key wilderness encounter with Satan, beginning His sorrowful walk to Calvary. One would like to think – but can't prove – that He left the wilderness victorious on Tishri 10! – the Day of Atonement.

Another issue relates to when Jesus died. The only Friday, full-moon, Passover at this time was three and a half years after the fall of 26 A.D. (i.e., 30 A.D.). One would have to go astronomically to 33 A.D. before that would occur again (which many in the evangelical world do). But that would require an alternative interpretation of Daniel 9 at variance with proper exegesis. There is no Friday Passover at full moon in 31 A.D.

Does all this affect the 2300-year prophecy? Yes – but when one understands its great meaning in light of the other end-time periods of the mareh, a beautiful message for the end-time saints unfolds. The sanctuary, its cleansing, the judgment, the perfecting of a holy people and the bringing in of everlasting righteousness with the vindication of God's character are all given in judicial briefs in Daniel 8–12!

Calendar Year Associations

Julian Year B.C.	Julian Month	Babylonian Month	Hebrew Year A.M.	Hebrew Month	Event	Ezra, Nehemiah, Daniel, Judah – use Tishri	Daniel 9:25
459	Jan/Feb	Shabatu	3302	Shevat
	Feb/Mar	Addaru		Adar
		Addaru II
	Mar/Apr	Nisanu		Nisan
	Apr/May	Aiaru		Iyar
	May/June	Simanu		Sivan
	Jun/Jul	Duzu		Tammuz
	Jul/Aug	Abu		Av
	Aug/Sep	Ululu		Eulu
	Sep/Oct	Tashritu		Tishri			6 th regnal
	Oct/Nov	Arahsamnu		Heshvan
	Nov/Dec	Kislimnu		Kislev
	Dec/Jan	Tebet		Tevet
	458	Jan/Feb		Shabatu	3303	Shevat
Feb/Mar		Addaru	Adar
Mar/Apr		Nisanu	Nisan
Apr/May		Aiaru	Iyar
May/June		Simanu	Sivan
Jun/Jul		Duzu	Tammuz
Jul/Aug		Abu	Av
Aug/Sep		Ululu	Eulu
Sep/Oct		Tashritu	Tishri 10	Artaxerxes' decree (458 B.C.) (Day of Atonement)		7 th regnal	483 years begin
Oct/Nov		Arahsamnu	Heshvan
Nov/Dec		Kislimnu	Kislev
Dec/Jan		Tebet	Tevet
457		Jan/Feb	Shabatu	3304		Shevat
		Feb/Mar	Addaru			Adar
			Adar II ed
	Mar/Apr	Nisanu	Nisan 1		Ezra leaves Babylon with multitude
	Apr/May	Aiaru	Iyar
	May/June	Simanu	Sivan
	Jun/Jul	Duzu	Tammuz
	Jul/Aug	Abu	Av 1		Ezra arrives in Jerusalem 1 st day of 5 th month 7 th year
	Aug/Sep	Ululu	Eulu
	Sep/Oct	Tashritu	Tishri				8 th regnal
	Oct/Nov	Arahsamnu	Heshvan
	Nov/Dec	Kislimnu	Kislev
	Dec/Jan	Tebet	Tevet
	456	Jan/Feb	Shabatu		3305	Shevat
Feb/Mar		Addaru	Adar

		Addaru II
	Mar/Apr	Nisanu		Nisan
	Apr/May	Aiaru		Iyar
	May/June	Simanu		Sivan
	June/July	Duzu		Tammuz
	July/Aug	Abu		Av
	Aug/Sep	Ululu		Eulu
	Sep/Oct	Tashritu	3306	Tishri		9 th regnal
	Oct/Nov	Arahsamnu		Heshvan
	Nov/Dec	Kislimnu		Kislev
	Dec/Jan	Tebetu		Tevet
455	Jan/Feb	Shabatu		Shevat

The issue that is paramount in this study relates to why Tishri 10 must be the “time” for the decree of Artaxerxes I. 458 B.C. appears to begin the seventh regnal year of this king. This gave Ezra a period of 7–8 months to gather the select tribes and ready them for the lengthy trek. Even that seems brief in light of all the planning and gathering of temple furnishings for a Jerusalem journey.

The Shemita within Man’s Decree

God’s restoration decree (490 years of final mercy) would begin with man’s decree, filled with sympathetic support to Israel’s God. In a direct probationary order He structured this period to represent five numeric calipers:

1. Its declaration in 458 B.C announced that a time limit on God’s mercy had been set in motion.
2. It was divided into sacred periods – 70 Sabbaticals and 10 Jubilees – all highly symbolic for deliverance and restoration.
3. Within its timing infrastructure, the first advent would occur.
4. At its end, redemptive history is closed. The tenth reveals this to be the era when the second advent occurs.<sup>6</sup>
5. The 490 years begin in the fall and are based on solar years. Thus, it ends in the fall. That means the second advent occurs in the fall.<sup>7</sup>

God instructed Moses that a Passover lamb was to be chosen four days before that sacred day. That means that on Abib 10 the lamb was chosen – on Abib 14 (Passover) it was slain. The triumphal entry of Jesus into Jerusalem occurred on Abib 9 (Sunday). The lamb would be chosen the next day (Monday). But now – the real “Lamb” had come and was rejected.

“Jerusalem had been the child of His care, and as a tender father mourns over a wayward son, so Jesus wept over the beloved city. How can I give thee up? How can I see thee devoted to destruction? Must I let thee go to fill up the cup of thine iniquity? One soul is of such value that, in comparison with it, worlds sink into insignificance; but here was a whole nation to be lost. When the fast westering sun should pass from sight in the heavens, Jerusalem’s day of grace would be ended. While the procession was halting on the brow of Olivet, it was not yet too late for Jerusalem to repent. The angel of mercy was then folding her wings to step down from the golden throne to give place to justice and swift-coming judgment. But Christ’s great heart of love still pleaded for Jerusalem, that had scorned His mercies, despised His warnings, and was about to imbrue her hands in His blood. If Jerusalem would but repent, it was not yet too late. While the last rays of the setting sun were lingering on temple, tower, and pinnacle, would not some good angel lead her to the Saviour's love, and avert her doom? Beautiful and unholy city, that had stoned the prophets, that had rejected the Son of God, that was locking herself by her impenitence in fetters of bondage,—her day of mercy was almost spent!”<sup>8</sup>

<sup>6</sup> White, Ellen G.; Christian Teachings of Ellen G. White, pp. 95-96.

<sup>7</sup> White, Ellen G.; The Great Controversy, p. 399.

The purpose of the 490-year prophecy was to bring an end to sin, anoint the most Holy and see everlasting righteousness arrive. Jesus said that it wouldn't happen with the Jewish people! (Matthew 21:43, 23:36-38, Daniel 8:14).

That means that the probationary time either was a prophecy totally cancelled at the Cross or it was put on hold and a “tarrying time” began until another group of loyalists could be found. Prophecy invokes the latter (another topic). There is a pending three-and-a-half-year period waiting for a purified people to emerge and vindicate God's character. (That's why apocalyptic prophecy has so many three-and-a-half-year periods.) This is how they are presented:

1. 42 months – used when persecution is disclosed.
2. 1260 days – used when God's people can do a “countdown.”
3. Time, times, and an half – used when the prophetic Jewish feasts are to be a tool.

Thus, the three and a half years must finalize a Sabbatical cycle and match the Passover Feast on a Friday. Is God numerically precise regarding the end or was He only so for the first advent? The prophecies of Daniel take us to the deliverance of God's people and the special resurrection (Daniel 12:1-2). They are atomic-clock precise.

“The sky opened and shut and was in commotion. The mountains shook like a reed in the wind, and cast out ragged rocks all around. The sea boiled like a pot and cast out stones upon the land. And as God spoke the day and the hour of Jesus' coming and delivered the everlasting covenant to His people, He spoke one sentence, and then paused, while the words were rolling through the earth. The Israel of God stood with their eyes fixed upward, listening to the words as they came from the mouth of Jehovah, and rolled through the earth like peals of loudest thunder. It was awfully solemn. And at the end of every sentence the saints shouted, “Glory! Alleluia!” Their countenances were lighted up with the glory of God; and they shone with the glory, as did the face of Moses when he came down from Sinai. The wicked could not look on them for the glory. And when the never-ending blessing was pronounced on those who had honored God in keeping His Sabbath holy, there was a mighty shout of victory over the beast and over his image.

“Then commenced the jubilee, when the land should rest [the 10th Jubilee that finishes the 490 years after a ‘tarrying time’]. I saw the pious slave rise in triumph and victory and shake off the chains that bound him, while his wicked master was in confusion and knew not what to do; for the wicked could not understand the words of the voice of God.”<sup>9</sup>

This expositor clearly knew of the delay and the finishing of the last three and a half years<sup>10</sup> with a final Jubilee.

---

<sup>8</sup> White, Ellen G.; The Desire of Ages, pp. 577-578.

<sup>9</sup> White, Ellen G.; Early Writings, pp. 34-35.

<sup>10</sup> White, Ellen G.; Manuscript Releases, vol. 19, p. 282.

Evidence (historical and Biblical) shows that Artaxerxes I's decree occurred in the fall of 458 B.C. This would give winter months' preparation for a spring trip westward, north and then south to Palestine. This puts Christ's baptism at the fall of 26 A.D. and the crucifixion at 30 A.D. at Spring Passover. That would then coincide with the known full moon on Friday, Abib 14, when Calvary had to have occurred.

Franklin S. Fowler, Jr., M.D.; Prophecy Research Initiative © 2009
EndTime Issues..., Number 102, April 8, 2010