Hello Families- This week has certainly been out of the ordinary. Thank you for your patience and understanding as I figured some medical things out for my daughter. We don't have all the answers we would like, but we have enough to feel comfortable for now. God is good and I know He will continue to provide for and protect my girl. I will be flying home this afternoon and be back at school tomorrow. Thank you all so much for your prayers and support. I truly have the best parents in my class!
