Mrs. Davidson's Class

Winter is upon us, and the kids are looking forward to ski days starting next week. If you registered your student for Lifesports ski or snowboard classes up at Bogus Basin and haven't paid yet, please submit your payment by Monday. You can pay all at once, or one week at a time. Please let me know if you have any questions.

We finished our Bible unit on Isaac this week. In P.E. we started practicing our stunts and tumbling skills - which is a fun unit that the kids enjoy. Science class is all about magnets and electricity this unit. The lower grades made compasses with needles, and the upper grades made magnets out of nails. The upper grades also learned about types of electricity and how electricity is generated.

Have a great weekend!

Teacher Martha's Class

Last week we tried our hand at sign language, but this week we dabbled in Chinese. I have to say sign language is much easier. Our book for the week was "Grandfather Counts" and it was about a grandpa who moves from China to live with his family in America. The grandfather and granddaughter teach each other their language. They count the train cars and how to say and write each others names. It is fun showing the kids other languages we don't hear on a regular basis.

We have been working on counting by 2's from last week and this week have added counting by 5's. The kids are doing pretty good with it. They are still trying to figure out the point of counting that way! :)

T&C are the letters of the week. We have identified words that start with those letters, practiced writing them ect. 2 more letters next week and they will start putting words together! They will be reading...even the prekinders! I am so excited to show them what they can do!

In Bible, we have been learning about Moses. This week it was how he lead his people. Moses didn't believe he could do it, but with help from his brother Aaron and God, he did it! Amazing guidance and power of God!

Teacher Holly's Class

We are continuing our fun with frogs. Hoping from letter to letter on the ABC mats, placing frogs on and in various items as we learn prepositions. Also following directions by placing a specific amount where directed..

We are constantly talking about the letters in our name. Some recognize theirs and others. While a few are still a work in progress.

We've read books with rhymes, now we are working with rhyming puzzles.
