Obituary

Gracie Ann Halstion, a star nicknamed Ann, was born October, 4, 1959 in Savannah, Ga. She was the daughter of Gracie Waldburg and the late Samuel Halstion. Although raised in New York City, Ann graduated from Windsor Forest High School in 1978 and later served in the Armed Forces for several years.

Through adulthood she was blessed with six beautiful children: Jermele Halstion, Larry (LJ) Smith, Laron Halstion, Anthony Lilly, Devyne Lilly, and her only blessed daughter, Diane Lilly. Ann also obtained her LPN, working in NYC and Upstate New York for several years, caring for others and the disabled. After moving to Atlanta, she began working for Advanced Care Partners, Bayada Health, and Aveanna Healthcare.

Ann would light up every room she entered with her smile and presence, genuinely touched others and wanted the best for others in life. A true angel from Heaven, Ann, always laughing to keep from crying, reassuring others of unconditional love and happiness — always seeing the light of God. Ann enjoyed spending quality time with her mother and children. She loved fixing family dinners, starting new family traditions, and enjoyed spending time with her grandchildren.

Ann will truly be missed by her mother, (Gracie Waldburg); her children; two brothers, James Halstion (Marge) and Samuel Halstion (Ann); and a host of grandchildren, nieces, nephews, cousins; and true love in the end, Tony Lilly.
