B. Wayne Loy

Memories

Wayne was born in Garnett, Kansas. He and his parents lived in Hutchinson and Wichita. When he was two, they moved to Independence, Missouri, where he and his sister Carol grew up. Wayne was active in the Boy Scouts and earned his Eagle Scout award. He also participated in Junior ROTC. After graduating from college and marrying Lois, he worked as an accountant for several different companies and spent 5 ½ years in the Air Force Reserve. He and Lois lived in Illinois, Missouri, and California before settling in Kansas.

Wayne loved the outdoors. Early on in his marriage, he and Lois went camping with friends. Scouting remained an important part of his life. Once his boys were old enough, he got them involved in scouting and joined the troop on numerous camping trips. He was an avid hunter and fisherman, and he tried teaching David how to clean the squirrel, rabbits, and fish that they sometimes brought home after a successful trip. Later in life he took up archery, which he also passed on to his boys. He occasionally engaged in construction projects, including a treehouse in the backyard for Andrew.

For many years, Wayne enjoyed getting out on the weekends. He took the family to air shows, attended bluegrass festivals, and took Stephen, Jen, and Andrew to Renaissance festivals (where he tried every street food available). He frequented every swap meet and flea market in the area. He often came home with a couple of hats or a few t-shirts and said, "Only $3. Can't go wrong!" He also began collecting eagle statues and knives. Over the years he built up a collection of eagles that rivaled Lois's collection of angels, and he was particularly proud of his collection of knives of every shape and size.

Later in life, when he was not able to get around as well, he read tons of books—mostly military fiction and woodworking magazines. He would sit in his rocker with his dog in his lap (he loved his dogs!) and eat popcorn or cheese balls or an apple. His dogs would wait patiently for the apple core he always gave them. He worried over people going in and out the front door—his kids and grandkids joke about how he regularly told them, "Shut the door!" They also remember fondly the nicknames he had for each of his family members.

Love you, Dad!

Anderellie and Rebecca, Stevie Wonder and Jenny with the light brown hair, Davy Crocket and Mary had a little lamb, and all of your grandkids.
