

Eastern Montana Youth Convocation (EMYC) is designed to inspire young people to reach their full potential and be all that they can be as Christian ambassadors in their respective places of work and education. The focus of this event is to (1) foster and encourage Christian fellowship among young people, (2) present biblically inspired messages, (3) create network opportunities, and (4) encourage young people to assume leadership responsibilities in the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

This year's theme is "Becoming a Professional Christian." The idea that ministry is restricted to pastors and evangelists is foreign to God's plan for His Church. He is calling an "army of youth rightly trained" to finish the work in this generation. They are called to serve Him in whatever profession or vocation that is compatible with their passion and natural aptitudes.

Young people will be inspired and empowered to allow their relationship with Christ permeate every facet of their lives and to become more than they ever imagined for His cause.

About Our Speaker

Jared Thurmon believes the world is ripe for disruption and that kindness and candor are the two metrics of success for any relationship or organization. He has been a part of the launch of a variety of business ventures. He currently serves as the Head of Strategy & Innovation of ARTV - the new on-demand video platform of the Adventist Review. He and his wife live on a small farm outside of Atlanta, Ga where they enjoy playing with their alpacas, mini donkeys, ducks and
