“What If I Told You”

By Aspen Norton

What if I told you, your hope was on a boat
and it’s sailing straight toward us now?
What if I showed you, your heart was next to mine and it’s never really far apart?
So near, so dear, it’s never really far apart, so near, so dear,

What if I told you, the whale sings a song
and the brave ones know to sing along?
What if I showed you, the algae grows the best when it’s near a golden treasure chest?
For you, for me, when it’s near a golden treasure chest, for you, for me,

I saw the dolphin fly, I heard the whale sing,
I watched the fish swim along the shore.
I saw the goldfish grin, I watched the swordfish swim,
I heard a mother sing lullabies.

(Chorus)

Where children laugh and people smile and miracles
are happening all the while.

Where children laugh and people smile and miracles
are happening all the while.

Today, today, today.
