Players must play in order of strength, regardless of age.

Players will generally represent their region in their correct age group. Where a player represents their Region in another age group or another Region, they will be classified as a substitute (see Clause 4.9) unless where a player is from another region and prior approval is sort and given by both the Region of Residency (ROR) and Queensland Squash board (see Clause 8.4).

2.8.3 Age Group Eligibility

A player is deemed eligible for an age group, if that player is under the age on the last day of the specific event. If they turn 13 years on 13 June, they must play the Under 15 event.

If the team championships are run from 15-17 June and a player turns 13 years on 18 June, they can play in the Under 13 Teams event. If they turn 13 years on 17 June, they must play in the Under 15 team event.

2.8.4 Residency Eligibility

To be eligible to compete in the Team Championships, a player must reside permanently in the Region they wish to represent for a minimum of three (3) months prior to the date of the 1st day of the team championship.

Where a player relocates to another Region within this period, they will need to apply for a release from the ROR. The decision will be at the sole discretion of their ROR. In all cases, the method of communication will be in writing and sent by email. Any decision to deny this application must be emailed back to the athlete within 7 days of receiving the application. Failure to observe this requirement will automatically release the player to another Region.

Where the player is denied, they remain eligible to represent the ROR, if they are selected and accept their offer to represent the ROR.

In all cases, the ROR is determined by where the "main family unit" resides. If a player is financially dependent on their parents / guardians, then they will be classified as residing where their parents / guardians reside. In other words, if a player relocates to another Region to attend an educational facility or to further develop their squash skills, they will remain eligible to represent their ROR as defined above.

If a player wishes to represent a region other than their region of residency, they will need to first qualify for their ROR, then apply for a release from the ROR. The decision to release the player will be at the sole discretion of their ROR. In all cases, the method of communication will be in writing and sent by email. If the player is released then they must apply to the region they wish to play for. The decision to accept the player will be at the sole discretion of the region. In all cases, the method of communication will be in writing and sent by email. If the region accepts the player, the player must then email Q Squash LTD on info@qsquash.com and provide all communication with ROR and accepting region. Q Squash will then accept or deny the application to play for the approving region. This process must be completed at least 30 days before the start of the QJC Teams event. If accepted, and the process is followed then the player's points will count. If the process is not followed or the player is denied at any point then the points will not count.

Where the player is denied at any point, they remain eligible to represent the ROR, if they qualify, are selected and accept their offer to represent the ROR. This is as long as they are still in time to make their ROR regional selection deadline.

6.2 APPENDIX 2 - MODIFIED DOUBLES RULES

Best of 3 games to 11 points, sudden death.

If both teams reach 10 all then a team requires to win 1 more point to win the game. PAR (point a rally) scoring.

Before the match begins, each side must announce the order in which the partners will serve, which must remain the same throughout the match.

From the start of the match the serving side has two hands (previously the first side to serve in a game had only one hand).

When the first serve is lost it is called – HAND OUT – and when the second serve is lost it is called – SIDE OUT – and on this call (side out) the service passes to the opposing side.

No strokes will be awarded – only lets.

A player cannot call a let on his/her own player.

When receiving serve players must stay on their designated side for the duration of the game.

This means that you cannot receive serve from the right hand side and then also from the left hand side – you take one side and your partner takes the other. This is only for return of serve – you do not have to stay in these positions during a rally.

The "two idle or loose players" are to be on the opposite quarter court away from the receiver until the receiver has struck the ball.

That is - on the server's side of the half court line - understanding also that "on the line is out" in squash. This also means that if the server's partner was touching the half court line then it is a FAULT.

This is to keep the servers partner from intimidating the receiver and therefore causing dangerous play.

SAFETY: Competitors under the age of 13 years are required to wear protective eyewear plus mouth guards or I-MAX units for maximum protection.
