

Dear Dad

*Your life's journey done, it's come far too soon.
I'll miss you my whole life, dear dad, I love you.*

*We'll think fondly and often, how you lived life full throttle.
Your memory lives on, you'll never be forgotten.*

*Your lively presence could never be missed.
Your hilarious sayings still bring smiles to the face.*

*What you did, you did big...ordinary, not your way.
You lived life to fullest, no in between, halfway.*

*You taught us to work hard and take time for small joys.
Never passing the chance for laughs, or good times.*

*You were one to be counted on, never one to flinch back.
Not one for the sidelines, you were front of the pack.*

*You showed up on time, put your strength to the task.
A hard working man, faithful to the very last.*

*Your life wasn't easy, but you fought a good fight.
The days that were hard, forever gone out of sight.*

*You're safe in the care of Jesus, our Lord.
You can rest evermore in your peaceful reward.*

*Our comfort is knowing your pain is no more.
Dear dad you're at rest now. You suffer no more.*

*You fought a good fight, your life's work is done.
Sweet rest for the weary, your crown is well won.*

Andrew A. Stahl III was born on March 20, 1952, to Andrew A. II and Rebecca (Kleinsasser) Stahl. He grew up in the Rosedale Hutterite Colony near Mitchell, SD, where Andy attended school through eighth grade. Following school, Andy helped with dairy cows and doing carpentry at the colony. After an injury, he helped with paperwork at a commercial mill for one year. He then worked as a manager and mixed feed.

On June 20, 1976, Andy was united in marriage with MaryAnn Wipf at the Rosedale Colony. In 1982, Andy and MaryAnn moved to Millbrook Colony and resided there for 20 years. While living at the Millbrook Colony, Andy worked at the feed mill. In 2002, Andy and MaryAnn moved to Milbank. Andy took a job at The Window Place and worked there until 2011. From 2011 to 2020, he worked at WestCon loading trains. Andy loved working at WestCon and retired in 2020.

Andy loved his job and enjoyed working hard. He was always concerned about providing for his family. He taught his children the satisfaction of hard work. Andy loved his children and grandchildren and spent a lot of time traveling to see them. Even though he struggled to communicate after his stroke, he still enjoyed seeing his loved ones and friends. Anyone who met Andy could never forget him.

After his stroke, Andy enjoyed doing yardwork, helping around the house, and walking as his exercise. He enjoyed listening to SBN and Jimmy Swaggert. Prior to his stroke, his favorite activity was scrap metal salvage with his brother, Gary. Andy had a close relationship with his siblings and was blessed they all lived close and could enjoy each other's company. He cherished special friends and loved to connect with them from time to time.

Left to cherish Andy's memory are his wife of 47 years, MaryAnn Stahl of Milbank, SD; his children: Marilyn (Robbie) Thurman of Cleveland, TN; Leona Stahl of Milbank, SD; Andrew Stahl IV of Yankton, SD; Laura Stahl of Milbank, SD; Grace (Steve) Gross of Winnipeg, MB; and Daniel (Kathryn) Stahl of Rice Lake, WI; four grandchildren: Marcus Stahl, Kayleigh Stahl, Isaiah Thurman, and Elliot Gross; siblings: Edward Stahl of Sioux Falls, SD; Larry (Susie) Stahl of Milbank, SD; Gary (Lena) Stahl of Milbank, SD; and Rebecca Stahl of Milbank, SD; along with many nieces, nephews, cousins, and friends. Preceding him in death are his parents; brother, Jerry Stahl; and parents-in-law: John and Elizabeth Wipf.
