For Today

What Are Your God-Given Dreams?

I love dreams. I love the contours of God's voice, the creativity He puts into His relationship with each of us. I enjoy interpreting dreams because every dream from God is an expression of His heart and one more facet of His love. "How do I know if my dream is from God?" Dreams can come from one of three sources—the enemy, the human soul, or God. How do we recognize dreams from God? Dreams, being a form of revelation, hold to the same rules as revelation. To be from God, a dream needs to:

Agree with Scripture: A dream from God will not violate what He has already revealed in Scripture. Dreams are never intended to create doctrine or establish a rule of faith or practice—only the Bible can do such a thing.

Carry the character of God and fit His personality: Recognize God's voice by knowing the difference between conviction and condemnation. Conviction is about activity, whereas condemnation is about identity. With condemnation, we begin to believe the weight of our sin is so great that we will never be free. A dream that leaves you feeling hopeless, like you will never be good enough for God or like you've done something that forever marks you and holds you back from His purpose for you—that is not a dream from God.

Be truthful, accurate: The word "revelation" refers to something you didn't know previously. Just because a "revelation" is accurate doesn't mean it is from God (Matthew 7:21–23). At the same time, God doesn't lie, so all revelation from Him will be accurate.

Bear good fruit: The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, goodness, kindness, faithfulness, gentleness and self-control (Galatians 5:22–23). A dream from God will never direct you to hate someone, become fearful, lose control, or accuse another person. (James 3:14-17)

Point to Jesus: In Deuteronomy 13 and 18, God gives keys to recognizing true and false revelation. The main question: "Does the revelation point us to a god other than Jesus?" The spirit of prophecy is the testimony of Jesus (Rev. 19:10), which means that all true revelation will lead us to Him.

Be full of color and light: God is light and around His throne is a rainbow of color. The Bible uses "light" vs. "dark" and "day" vs. "night" as metaphors for good/evil, God/Satan. A dream from God will be full of color and bright light.

As you draw closer to God, He will reveal what is from Him and what is not. If you approach dreams from a position of relationship, you will find yourself walking on safe, steady ground. Your Father is good and He wants to speak to you. When you ask Him for bread, He won't give you a stone (Luke 11:11–13).

Happy Sabbath!

Let the morning bring me word of your unfailing love, for I have put my trust in
you. Show me the way I should go, for to you I entrust my life.
