George Edward Cwach was born on December 5, 1956 in Tyndall, SD as the second son of Leo J. and Wilma (Williams) Cwach. He attended Tyndall Grade School through the 4th grade, before moving to Yankton, with his family. George graduated from Yankton High School with the class of 1975, where he had been active in theatre and speech activities. He then graduated with a bachelor's degree in mass communications from the University of South Dakota, Vermillion, in 1979 where he served in the Student Senate and the Program Committee.

After graduation, he worked as a reporter for the Madison Daily Leader, Madison, SD. Later he traveled as a representative for the Midland Atlas Co., Milbank, SD. He then became a traveling professional photographer across the United States for the J. C. Penney Co.

When he returned to Yankton in 2000, he worked for Stockmen's Livestock and Yankton Livestock yards, as well as Domino's Pizza. He enjoyed working with livestock.

He was active with the Discovery Church, Yankton. George also enjoyed gardening and tennis.

George passed away peacefully, from natural causes, at his home on April 8, 2023 at the age of 66.

George is survived by his brother, Leo, of Yankton, and his sister, Nancy L. Cwach of Centennial, CO.
