

South Shore Seventh-day Adventist School

ADMISSION POLICY

South Shore SDA School is open to all students who desire a Christian education. Only students and families who support the principles and conduct of Christian education to grow mentally, physically, socially and spiritually, and wish to contribute to the development of a Christian community should apply.

Applications for admission are available online and also through the school office. Students must reapply each year.

The school enrolls students:

- Who will abide by the policies set forth in the School Handbook and future supplements to it;
- Who are in harmony with the school's goals and philosophy;
- Who have met the specified application, immunization, and medical requirements;
- Who will benefit from the school's program;
- Who will not interfere with the attainment of educational goals of the school or of other students;
- Whose parents/guardians will not display behaviors detrimental to the school, teachers, or students;
- Whose families keep their financial accounts current.

South Shore SDA School admits students of any race, color, religion, national or ethnic origin to all the rights, privileges, programs and activities generally made available to students at South Shore SDA School. It does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national or ethnic origin, in administration of its educational policies, admission policies, scholarships and other school-administered programs.

Kindergarten Entrance
