Today my friends you grieve for me...
But, do not, for my soul is free.
My weary body is laid to rest...
But, my soul is free, I've passed the test.
My life was but a stepping stone...
One that I climbed, but not alone.
Do not grieve, my family.
Today I'm gone, tomorrow, I'm free.
To fly in the heavens on eagle's wings.
To laugh, to cry, to always sing.
To see the heavens through eyes anew...
And look down upon the world I knew.
So, do not grieve for I am free...
A shackled soul, that's now set free.
For once I was someone you always knew...
I'll always be, but am now renewed.
My love for you, my family...
Cannot be stopped by breaths that ceased.
It only grows and knows no bounds.
And encompasses all within my realm.
